special Disputch to the Intelligencer.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 4.—
The University foot ball team had a final meeting to-day and disbanded for the season. The meeting was for the prices of straightening out the finan-cial end of the season's career, which thanks to the adulthismanagement of cial ond of the season's carser, which thanks to the shiftful amanagement of Manager Cutwright, is as gratifying as the work in the held. For the first time in many years, there is a small surples alies paying all expenses.

Ectore another year the students are going to take the matter in hand and the board of regenits will be asked in Juac to create an athletic grounds hero, there are several ways discussed here of creating a fund, but the most practical scena to be to charge each student athletic fee. This is the custom at many institutions. A small fee of, say two dollars, would give an annual income to the organisation of $700 to $1,000 shich will give the different teams a good start. The students will almost on man favor this move.

The summary of scores for the year is:

University 6: Mt. Pleasant 0. University 5:

S. University 6; Mt. Pleasant 0. University 10; Latrobe 0. University 10; A. H. P. O. University 6; Mariettia 0. inversity 0; W. A. J. 4. University 26; Yash, & Lee 8.

the scores it will be seen that From the scores it will be seen that the defensive work of the team was superior to their offensive playing. In this they showed their leck of skilful raining and but for the fact that the line was the equal of any in the United State, their showing would not have been as good. But while the newspapers are criticising the work of the team as lacking in skill, it would be well to observe that the success of such a great team as the University of Pennsylvania is due to their heavy mass and rush plays, such as the University team secoled in.

rush plays, such as the University team speelled in.

Next year's team ought to be the very best in these states (West Virginia, ohio and Pennsylvania), excepting of course, the University of Pennsylvania, and providing there is a first class coach on hand at the opening in September. There are already lines out for a good man and no doubt, one will shortly be engaged. All the present team will return next year and there are several members of the second team whose work this year was very gratifying.

Harry Kuust, a hero in years gone by on the gridinon, and one of the best halves west of the Alleghenies, will return to take law and will play next year. W. C. Bambrick, of New Cumberland, will also be back and will fill in most any place.

It has been whispered about that the facility would take a stand against foot ball next year, but no one takes it ser-

At the opening of the season the athletic faculty offered a fifty dollar gold medal to the best adjudged player in the team. Dr. Hartigan, Manager Cutwright and G. A. Foard are the judges, and have not yet given a verdict, but the general opinion is that John Neth-Zen will wear the medal. He is from Elkins and is as good as the best of them. The steel to place small quantities. The steel works are holding for $1 more money. There is still some outside Bessemer offering at prices lower than the furnaces are willing to accept.

In the finished from and steel trades the pressure to sell is increasing and lower prices are freely made whenever a good chance is offered to capture business. The only line in which some good work is coming up is in ship plates for lake vessels. Bars and structural material are weaker.

"With two or three exceptions, and those for finished materials, the pig from market continues quiet, but so far has lost none of its strength, as local furnances are still selling at basis of $14 for No. 2 foundry. Plates are in good inquiry and several transactions in lots of 1,500 to 2,500 tons will probably be closed before Christmas at about 1.75.

The low price of sheets, 2.55 for No. 27, is proving attractive to buyers and some large contracts have been closed. There is a better inquiry for steel billits and rods. The conflict between buyors and sellers on bar iron is a vigorous one and the efforts of buyers to break prices amounts almost to despersation. #### THE MISSING LINKS

In the Famous Hayward Case-Alleged Confessions in Detective Quinlan's

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 4-The MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 4—The closing act in the drama of Harry Hayward's life is at hand and in that connection, the book of "missing links" which has been prepared by Michael (lightham, the detective employed by the Haywards, has a remarkable interest. The book, which will comprise some 120 pages, with cuts of Hayward. Missiber and the detective himself, was given to the printers this afternoon and will be ready for the public next Monday.

given to the printers this afternon and will be ready for the public next Monday.

The whole book is virtually a confession of Hayward's guilt, Quinian himself evidently believes in it most thoroughly. Two chapters are devoted to a running account of the crime and trial. The remaining chapters are devoted to the "links" and are so designated. The most important is that on which the confession is based which appears in "link five." In that chapter a vigit to Hayward at the jail is detailed by the detective. Harry had been discussing with his detective a preposter outs plan for getting Adry out of the way. The plot was an exceedingly linguistic well, Harry, your scheme is a great one and well put up, but you must be member that you of the week of the well will be seen the first will be seen the first will be seen the first work of the work of the well your plot was laid in your last job on the murder of Miss Ging, and you see how poorly you put up that job. You look only at one side of it."

"Well," teplied Hayward, petulantly, "who in heaven's name would think his own brother would go back on him? Had Adry stayed with me i would not have cared what Blixt would have said, or Stewart. They did not disprove my loan to Kit (Miss Ging) in the trial and that alone would have carried out my theory."

"That," says Quinlan, "was Hay-

"That," says Quinlan, "was Hayward's confession."
On abother occasion, Harry said to Quinlan, "iff Adry only told all the truth and the facts as they are, he would not help me any, but he would got hanged just as I expect to be. We have committed before this."
"A third confession is narrated just at the close of the book, in a bit of unwritten history, which is extremely intensiting, but which, strange to relate, has never been known throughout the entire case, which has been sifted as finely for facts and evidence as any case that has ever come before the publie. It is simply the fact that at one time, while Adry was on the stand, Harry announced to some of his friends that he was going to throw up the sponge and confess the whole thing. He was only deterred from this by the earnest solicitation of those interested in the case, the appeal being placed solely
"for his mother's nake."

Quinlan claims to have secured the first knowledge of the attempt to break Juil through a question from Dr. Thaddeus Hayward, who came to his omea and wanted to know what he would charge to go away with a man and keep him under cover for one year.

The detective describes the effrontery exhibited by Harry in requesting Quinlan to send to Chicago for a real live out throat who knew his business and be ready, for a consideration, to enter Effect Stewart's house, blow chloroform through a quill into the elder's bedroom, and when he was "gone of" to enter the room, "remove him with a rope around his neck and then clean on the places. Barry was to put the thug "on" so be could make a rich haul and people would think the elder had been
more lies out of them."

The plan of the kidnapping of Adry has been already explained. Harry congratulated himself that with Adry and the elder "removed" Assistant Quintan went out to Hopkin's factory
and the elder "removed" Assistant County Attorney Hall "could get no
more lies out of them."

Two of the most important bits of tevidence, the ""ris and the soldered can are touched upon, ea nood deal of space is devoted to Adry Hayward's connection with the case. Adry is directly charged by Har ry with being interested with him it burning the mill at Hamill and particle pating in the profits from the hautunes. He also accuses Adry as being the robber who held up Harry. Mis the robber who held up Harry. Mis Ging and a companion, one evening a year ago last summer at Lake Cal-houn. Harry, according to Quinlan, was in the acheme and held the head of the horse which his brother was trying to snatch the diamonds from the occu-pants of the carriage.
